CLUB NEWS

WHAT YOU MISSED!!

At last month's meeting, our guest speaker was Capt Brian Leonard, of the charter boat Sea Level (C-Level@sportfishing.com). Capt Leonard was an enthusiastic guest, sharing a variety of blue water tactics and techniques. He left no doubt that should you be interested in catching blue water marvels, chartering a trip with him is as close to a guarantee as it comes. Or you can go fishing for these beauties, utilizing the techniques he so openly shared. Either way, you'll have a memorable event.

CLOSE BUT NO CIGAR

This year's annual CCA tournament challenge held on Aug 21st was a resounding success for all who participated. VBAC was proudly represented by 5 teams; The Green-Flash; O'RELAX; Classic Rockfish; C.O.D. ; and REEL NAUUTI.

Boats being boats, one team unfortunately suffered technical difficulties early, which left us with four to challenge the rest. Master coordinator and key strategist for this challenge was none other than Larry Regula—who designed and implemented a fish plan among our armada, with precision and purpose. All remaining boats returned by days end to the weigh in with an ample bounty of targeted (assigned) species; making VBAC competitive in all categories.

O'RELAX boated Spanish Mackerel, Triggers and Blues

Classic Rockfish boated flounder, croaker and a 8.8lb sheepshead (not at the 2nd island)

C.O.D. represented with flounder weighing over 4lbs, spades, croaker and spot

REEL NAUUTI proudly returned with 2 cobia, spot and croaker

Although the results don't tell the whole story (point differentials), VBAC was tied for 6th place—with a smile on every team members face. Congratulations to all participants, and thanks for admirably representing the club!

Did You Happen To Notice?

Club member George Schuchman was mentioned in a recent BEACON article (Thursday 8.19.2010) in their feature story entitled Hooked on Fun; 23rd Kids Fishing Day. George was one of a number of volunteers who donated his time to put a smile on some young kids faces. This event exposes the thrills of fishing to underprivileged kids from the local area. “This day is all about caring for kids, mentoring them and sharing the fun of fishing...”

Way to go George, thanks for your selfless efforts!!!!

Angler Honored!

During last months meeting, club president Butch Eason presented long time member RAY HEIM with a plaque, commemorating his outstanding contributions to our club and the sport of fishing. Congratulations Ray well deserved.

MEMBER FISHTAILS

Clara the Trigger Master

Well if you were to ask me how to help Clara have a fantastic birthday. I would say first buy her the new DSi XL then let her have a slumber party and maybe even take her to a water park.. but there is one thing that she has wanted for a long while but she has never cashed in on. Now those of you who know Clara know that her older sister Katie is pretty handy with that fishing pole. Katie just turned 12 and has had her share of citations and big fish on the boat. Clara on the other hand usually is not the one to pull in \"the big ones\", but today Clara brought game to the table like I have never seen her do. It was like a little light switch went on upstairs. I mean this girl had it going on! I truly believe she decided once and for all that she was going to \"dust\" the family today when it came to fishing. It all started around 10am or so when we found a nice patch of trigger fish. Katie of course got one on the boat and was very excited and we were equally excited for her. Now Clara decided she was going to go up to the bow with her rod and reel and give it a go. She dropped her line and about 4 minutes later we all hear this darling squeal of joy come from the bow of the boat. It was Clara. The fish bit and she set the hook and then Clara's line took off. Clara yells out. Mom! Dad! My rod is going crazy! She starts laughing. I got one! I got one! Net! Net! She masterfully moved the rod in place and started to crank that baby in.. Her face absolutely priceless. I go up to the bow to help her get the fish onto the boat and Holy Moly is that a trigger? That thing is huge! Her smile was instant. We got the fish to the back of the boat and weighed it. 3 lbs 12oz! only 4 oz away from being a citation.. Clara was stoked! We were stoked. The girls continued fishing for trigger for a while catching a couple more. Now Clara being the youngest is not easy and sometimes she has her moments.. so we realized that she was about to have one and we switched gears and the girls took a break and went for a swim. !

That helped tremendously and within 45 minutes they were back on the boat wanting to fish again. We started to head back and stopped at the second island. Lines down and within minutes Clara starts bringing in yet more fish. Flounders! and she is even baiting her own hooks. They were not keepers but none of us cared cause we were having a blast watching Clara. Clara's birthday is this Sunday. She will be nine. I was thinking along with the DSi XL , I might just sneak a rod and reel in there as well..

What a blast!!!

Growing up my mama used to tell me that the fastest way to a man's heart is through his stomach.. meaning a good cook definitely has an edge.... Well I learned that pretty young but what she never did tell me was what the fastest way to a woman's heart was.. As I grew older, I finally realized how to answer this question. Now listen up guys cause this is important... It is usually revealed through her eyes. Simply, listen to her, look for any non verbals and other clues and get to the bottom of what she truly needs or in this case \"craves\" and provide it for her.. For those of you that personally know me, you already know what that is and for those of you that don'twell let me tell you all about it.

My husband decided the best way to make me happy was surprise me with something I have wanted for a long time and that is a full day of cobia fishing. He is not normally one that likes to cobia fish so my history of going for cobia usually only lasts a couple hours at most and then onto another species or back home. Well not today. Today we (It was only Kevin, Katie, and I today...cause Clara had a playdate) left the docks around 11am after we finally located some eels at Princess Anne Distributing. (thank goodness) everyone else that I knew of on this side of the water was sold out or maybe had 2 or 3 left. I struck gold with 18 for the trip and off we went at 11:15 am headed towards the York Spit area.

Now Kevin and I like I said have never truly bouy hopped for cobia for any extended amount of time other than two or three buoys and maybe a few pylons at the CBBT ..but today we hopped and hopped We saw more cobia today on the water than we ever have in our life! We must have seen 15 today. Some ate some didn't . Some swam by so fast you could barely get a glimpse. We found a few at first that just would not eat at the buoy no matter what we offered. Then we found a manheiden school that was smacking the water hard. We simply floated around near it and within about 20 minutes the first taker showed up. Kevin casted him out an eel and then brought him to the boat. He measured 37 incher on those nose. First one in the box. Now the rig he was using was a simple 20 inch leader mono or flurocarbon which ever you prefer, a 8/0 gama j hook (snelled of course) directly attached to power pro main line via an albright. Cast the eel out leave the spool open and wait.. within about 25 to 30 seconds kevin felt him get on the line then he closed the bail and set the hook and the rest is history... We proceeded to let Katie get the next line. Unfortunately her luck ended at the boat prop when the cobia got the last word and wrapped himself just enough to snap it....Then Kevin hooked up another one hoping to give it to Katie but the buoy got the last word on that one as well with another \"wrap job\". Now it was my turn. I was up on the hard top.. yes with rope in hand and I saw the cobia near the buoy I cast out let the line drop and within 15 seconds had a taker. I told Kevin to put the boat in reverse almost immediately and we got away from the buoy.. the fight lasted at least 10 minutes and I was having a blast. He got to the boat and then down again a few times. Now he brought a friend with him, normally I would cast out another line and grab the friend also but.. I wanted to make sure this transaction was completed first because of the previous 2 that got away. We finally got him 1/2 way up the boat I grabbed the other line after this fish was secured and in the boat. The fish measured 45

Legislative Newz

Did You Hear.....

The Virginia Marine Resources Commission is poised to enact the Fisherman Identification Program. When in place in 2011, as required by state law, the program will require all adults who legally fish without a license to call annually and get a free identification number. In effect, all adults who fish in Virginia's saltwaters must be either licensed or registered for free, as of January. This state program will collect contact information so Virginia can become exempt from the new National Saltwater Angler Registry now in place, and anglers will not face a federal registration fee of up to $25 each year under that federal initiative. The Commission is expected to vote on the FIP next month. More information on the national registry, and how to register, is found on the right hand side of VMRC website home page.

Fish Consumption Advisories

Consumption Advisories and Restrictions in Effect for Virginia Waterways

Download a PDF of the fish advisory fact sheet

Fishing in Virginia waters provides many benefits including food and recreational enjoyment. Many fishermen keep, cook, and eat the fish they catch. The Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) routinely monitors fish from Virginia waters for contaminants and provides fish tissue sample results to the Virginia Department of Health (VDH) for analysis. While most Virginia waters do not have dangerous levels of contaminants, sometimes the fish in certain waters are found to contain chemicals at levels of concern.

The meal advisories listed in the tables are based on protecting the general public from adverse health effects of contaminants. A meal is considered to be an eight-ounce (half-pound) serving of fish.
