The President's Corner

In The Thick of It Now

Just like that switch has been hit! The days are longer, and everything has started to bloom.... With some of that comes chores and yard work. The reward is getting all of that done so you can get out and enjoy time on the water. It makes me think of years past when we would travel to Waynesboro Virginia to attend the Fly Fishing festival. It was around this time of the year and the mountains were starting to turn green again. Trees were budding and grass was starting to wake up from its winter nap. I always used that event to kick off my spring fishing adventures. There is an old saying that when the cherry blossoms started blooming the Red Drum would show up.....Guess what? The Cherry Trees have showed their colorful flowers, and the drum are here. Mother nature has proved her timely almanac right on time. What other fishing sayings do you time your trips by? A few I have always heard are "Wind from the East fish bite the Least" "Bananas are bad luck" (true story, ask me about it) No matter what your superstitions or thoughts on when and where to fish are it only matters that you go.... "Can't Catch Them on the Couch"

'Til Next Tide,

The Story of the Teddy Bear

Did you know that the Teddy Bear was invented in honor of President Theodore Roosevelt? It all began when Theodore Roosevelt was on a bear hunting trip near Onward, Mississippi on November 14, 1902. He had been invited by Mississippi Governor Andrew H. Longino, and unlike other hunters in the group, had not located a single bear.

Roosevelt's assistants, led by Holt Collier, a born slave and former Confederate cavalryman, cornered and tied a black bear to a willow tree. They summoned Roosevelt and suggested that he shoot it. Viewing this as extremely unsportsmanlike, Roosevelt refused to shoot the bear. The news of this event spread quickly through newspaper articles across the country. The articles recounted the story of the president who refused to shoot a bear. However, it was not just any president, it was Theodore Roosevelt the big game hunter!

A replica of the original

Teddy Bear

Clifford Berryman's 1902 cartoon that lampooned T.R.'s bear hunt

A political cartoonist by the name of Clifford Berryman read the article and decided to lightheartedly lampoon the president's refusal to shoot the bear. Berryman's cartoon appeared in the Washington Post on November 16, 1902. A Brooklyn candy shop owner by the name of Morris Michtom saw the cartoon and had an idea. He and his wife Rose were also makers of stuffed animals, and Michtom decided to create a stuffed toy bear and dedicate it to the president who refused to shoot a bear. He called it 'Teddy's Bear'.

After receiving Roosevelt's permission to use his name, Michtom mass produced the toy bears which were so popular that he soon founded the Ideal Toy Company. To this day the Teddy Bear has worldwide popularity and its origin can be traced back to Theodore's fate-full hunting trip in 1902.

Top volunteers tag more than 8,400 fishes in one year! March 18, 2024 By Susanna Musick
With more than 417,000 fishes tagged since 1995, the Virginia Game Fish Tagging Program (VGFTP) had a lot to celebrate at its annual awards program at Bass Pro Shops in Hampton last Friday night. The VGFTP is a cooperative program between the Marine Advisory Program at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (VIMS) and the Virginia Saltwater Tournament at the Virginia Marine Resources Commission (VMRC). Using state saltwater license funds, the tagging program trains volunteer anglers to tag recreationally important finfishes. Data collected by the VGFTP helps anglers and managers learn more about fish migration, growth and habitat use. In 2023, VGFTP volunteers tagged more than 14,700 fishes; of these, 8,457 (57%) were tagged by the Top Taggers who won an Award Friday evening. The Top Tagger trophy was awarded to Yorktown angler, Ed Shepherd, who tagged more than 3,260 fishes in 2023. Award winners hailed from all over Virginia and the Eastern Shore. Menhaden News

Failed menhaden study bill betrays the Chesapeake Bay

By Steve Atkinson
Guest columnist

As spring fishing season approaches, we are reminded it has been a tough few years for the mighty Menhaden — the most important fish in the Chesapeake Bay — and those who try to protect them. Menhaden are a critical but inedible bait fish that feed many species in the bay including striped bass, marine mammals and birds. They are essential to the health of the bay and are harvested in huge nets then ground up (i.e. reduced) to fish meal where they become feed for salmon farms and other animals.

For years this controversial fishery has been protected by a handful of politicians and an army of lobbyists. Concerns about menhaden depletion, damage from fish spills, unintended bycatch, and damage to habitat have long been raised by both fishermen and environmental groups, only to be told “there is no science to support your claims.”

So, this past summer a group gathered to provide input on the design of a long overdue scientific study of menhaden in the bay. This study is badly needed because coastal stock assessments, which declare menhaden are not “overfished,” do not account for conditions in the bay. This group included representatives from Omega Protein (Virginia’s sole industrial menhaden harvester), the Virginia Institute of Marine Sciences and others. Afterwards we all agreed on this study and what would be included. It was a glimmer of hope.

In January, this proposed study resulted in House Bill 19, sponsored by Dels. Lee Ware and Betsy Carr, to fund the study. It would take three years and cost $2.7 million to complete, but is necessary to better understand the impact on our bay’s ecosystem. Shockingly, for the second consecutive year, the bill was postponed until next year, likely killing the entire study. When asked why the bill failed with no public testimony, the chair of the legislative committee stated, “I did what I was told.”

What happened? The Canadian-owned menhaden company unleashed its lobbyists and political friends on the General Assembly to do what they do best. I guess they don’t want science after all. This is yet another breach of public trust.

All of this follows an ugly 2022 where the industry had multiple fish spills along the beaches of the Eastern Shore and 12,000 pounds of prized red drum killed as bycatch. It was a year that thousands of citizens, environmental groups and fishing businesses signed petitions and letters to the governor, all to no avail.

That year ended in the defeat of a proposed 1-mile, no-fishing buffer regulation on a 5-4 vote at the Virginia Marine Resources Commission, which opted instead for a toothless “memorandum of understanding.” This is the same citizen board that the administration had earlier stacked with friends of the menhaden industry, and the same board that must now address yet another petition for rulemaking and a resolution from Northampton County supervisors to move the fishery out of the bay. And it’s the same board that must answer to scientific research showing that Osprey birds in the bay are starving due to scarcity of menhaden.

All of this makes us wonder, why is Virginia allowing the mass harvest of 112 million pounds of this public resource from the bay annually when the company is unwilling to embrace scientific research? Is this what a responsible company does in the 21st century? And what is the point of being a legislator if you allow lobbyists to make decisions for you? This industrial fishery should move out of the bay and into the ocean (where the company currently harvests about two-thirds of its total catch) until science can show it is not causing harm. By allowing harvest of these fish in the bay at a lower operating cost, the state is essentially subsidizing this operation.

We will remember this legislative fiasco the next time someone says, “There’s no science to support your concerns.” It’s not too late for the administration to fund this important study, and to the politicians who turn a blind eye and condone this betrayal of our bay: We vote.

Fresh Water News

On March 11, Russell Willoughby was pre-fishing the lake with Ike prior to the crappie tournament and caught this monster. It's a state citation release fish and proves Russell knows where to find the monsters! Way to go Russell!

Fresh Water News

Lake Smith with Ronnie Willoughby 3/12/24 State citation release black crappie: Went fishing with Ronnie in Lake Smith a few days before the VBAC Crappie tournament in my Tracker. I hadn't used my boat in almost a year and had never fished with Ronnie so it was meant to be just a shake down trip at best. Everything worked fine on my boat and Ronnie was great to fish with so I was feeling good about the tournament. It got even better when we tried a few spots looking for crappie and I boated a 15.5 inch crappie release. My first for the year! She was black from spawning so I of course let her go. We caught a couple more but that big one was the best.

VBAC Crappie Tournament 3/16/24:

Ronnie Willoughby entered the VBAC Crappie Tournament and started catching almost as soon as we started. 12.5" ended up being the biggest we could produce for the entire day. Weather was great and we caught 8 or 9 keeping 6 for dinner. We each caught a mud catfish and Ronnie kept the biggest. Ronnie also caught a bass which he released. Over all a fun tournament but too long on the water for me. Congratulations to Russell with his 15.5 incher. Caught right where I released that one I caught on Tuesday.

Blessings,
Dr. James W. Ike Eisenhower
